

Annual Agreements

At resolve we understand that it is important for your staff to have healthy working lives, and that you meet your duty of care as an employer.

In our recent survey, businesses in Edinburgh told us that they believe they and their staff are experiencing higher levels of stress now than five years ago. It is important that your staff know where to turn when they spot the warning signs of stress, either in themselves or perhaps a colleague.

resolve offers a series of Employee Wellbeing Annual Agreements to meet the differing needs of a range of businesses. Our Agreements are designed to support you, your managers and staff who are struggling to cope with life's challenges. An annual agreement with resolve ensures that you and your business get the support you need, when you need it.
